This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

Group 1: Fig. 4;

Group 2: Fig. 5;

Group 3: Fig. 8; and

Group 4: Fig. 10.

The species are independent or distinct because claims to the different species recite the mutually exclusive characteristics of such species. In addition, these species are not obvious variants of each other based on the current record.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 1 appears generic.

There is an examination and search burden for these patentably distinct species due to their mutually exclusive characteristics. The species require a different field of search (e.g., searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries); and/or the prior art applicable to one species would not likely be applicable to another species; and/or the species are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

The election of the species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the election of species requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected species.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the species unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other species.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141.

During a telephone conversation with Mr. Edward Callan on August 13, 2008 a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the invention of Group 1: Fig. 4, claims 1-2, 5-12, 14-15, 20-22 and 25-26. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 3-4, 13, 16-19 and 23-24 have been withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-2, 5-12, 14-15, 20-22 and 25-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 (e) as being anticipated by Schafer.

Schafer discloses a coherent product including a wall section, the wall section is shown to be a bottom or base wall in Fig. 4, the wall sections comprises two components, a first plastic component with horizontal wall having surface 2, the horizontal wall forms a web and vertical ribs 5, the second plastic component (cover plate 20 forming a web with ribs or detents 23).

Re claims 2 and 8, the ribs 5 are wider in their vertical extending width than the thickness of the web (horizontal wall having surface 2).

Re claims 5 and 25, Schafer may be turned on its side to form an open front container with the bottom 3 extending vertically rather than horizontally.

Re injection molding, the Abstract at line 3 recites the “injection molding” process. However, injection molding is a product-by-process limitation within a product claim and is only given weight insofar as it structurally differentiates the product. Injection molding doesn’t differentiate the product.

Re claim 21, the ribs at 25 and 26 show an aperture structure to engage with the detents 23. Likewise, the portion of the rib with the detents 23 that is closer to the web forms an aperture between the web and the detent portion.

Claims 1-2, 5-9, 12, 14-15, 20-22 and 25-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Burling.

Burling discloses a coherent product including a wall section, the wall section is shown to be a side wall, the wall sections comprises two components as best shown in Fig. 3 at the left side thereof, a first plastic component 12 and a second plastic component 13. Rib 26 is a portion of the first component 12 which doesn’t contact the web of the second component 13. Re claim 21, portions 14 and 16 of the second component 13 can be deemed to be a single rib angled at 90 degrees from the web that includes an indentation, with a rib 17 of the first component contacting the indentation.
